

RADIONEWS

WNTC-FM, Cable 90, is proud to announce a change in its programming format. We will now be playing the rock music YOU want to hear when YOU want to hear it.

WNTC is located at 90 on your cable FM dial. It is operated by students from both Clarkson College of Technology and State University College of Arts and Science, Potsdam. Students from both these schools are invited to join the station, for more information call Mark Brown, station manager, at 265-4968.

We will continue to serve the community with our new format by continuing to air community announcements, news, and by taking requests. WNTC is glad to tell you that "Now, you've got a choice!" For your requests call 265-7650.

WSLU-FM's "North Country Music" program features the music of folk musician and songwriter Mark Rust this week. Rust, who performs on guitar, fiddle, banjo, dulcimer, and piano, is from a family of musicians originating in Albany. His most recent North Country performance was recorded at Canton Agricultural and Technical College's Blue Moon Cafe.

Mark Rust's music can be heard on WSLU-FM, North Country Public Radio, on Sunday, February 1, at 4:00 p.m. and again on the following Friday, February 6, at 2:00 p.m. WSLU broadcasts at 96.7 FM. "North Country Music", hosted by Felicia Otero, is made possible by a grant from Northern Music in Potsdam.
